RETURNED BRAVES.

The gallant fifteen Humboldtians who, like minute men of old, organized in an hour and marched immediately to the scene of danger and impending conflict, have, after two weeks' rambling among the mountains and valleys of the sparsely-settled Indian war country, returned to their homes and friends in Winnemucca. These heroes of not a single conflict—no discreditable for that, however—were welcomed with joy and honor, like the heroes of Balaklava. The band played several popular army airs, and W. H. Howard gave them a stirring speech of welcome. They told in a general way their hardships, and of the devastation which they observed; but mingling among friends, the thread of narration was too often broken by common interruption, and the shades of nightfall and the smaller circle of home or another re-enacted the scenes of campfire and mountain ride, of long, tedious routes and sought and then avoided dangers. The inspiration of the "Ancient Mariner," or the warlike tales of some Othello to his thus won Desdemona served to beguile the hours of evening and even steal many fair minutes of the waning night. The Silver State says that they gave the following condensed information:

They proceeded north to McDermitt, thence across the Oregon line to White Horse, where a number of settlers were fortified. From White Horse, scouting and foraging parties were sent out in the direction of Stein mountain and Wild Horse. They say there is not a white person left in a tract of territory of over one hundred miles square in Southeastern Oregon. Their scouting parties say Stein mountain proper is almost inaccessible. There are precipices on its rugged sides which troops cannot climb.

They saw several Indian campfires at night, but of course they would not attempt to dislodge the savages with a force of only fifteen men. Many houses between Fort Hailey and White Horse have been burned. The settlers can not be prevailed upon to go west of White Horse. They saw a number of abandoned ranches and heard of several murders and stealings. The hostiles are said to be very numerous and are armed with breech-loaders. They have a large band of horses, and are supposed to move their main camp frequently to find pasturage for their animals.

THE POTTER AFFAIR.

The Potter investigation grows richer as each day's developments are made known to the public. Mrs. Jenks has by her wit and evasion confounded the Democrats, and furnished the material for Butler to do them greater damage. The Anderson-Weber guarantee is becoming weaker each day. To assume, in the first place, that Anderson and Lin could blacken the reputation of John Sherman, Stanley Matthews, President Hayes, and other men of such character is like the assumption that a diminutive fog could shut out the sun's rays. Mrs. Jenks a part of the besliming crowd, says: "John Sherman did not write the letter accorded to him," and it is not improbable that Mrs. Jenks, the amanuensis, as she claims, of this letter, either wrote it herself or the letter was written by Weber, who now lies in his grave. Mrs. Jenks has been two days on the stand, and is to-day giving testimony. Suppose she is proved to have perjured herself! Anderson's testimony can not be considered, save in a similar light, and the Democratic position is only made the worse. The Democrats, by such campaigning, are simply ensuring their own defeat.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

William Cullen Bryant, was worth $350,000 at his death. This property, except four acres of land and $3,200, is equally divided between his two daughters. G. B. Clins, the overseer of his estate, has the four acres of land and $8,000. Clins' son is to have $200.

It is reported that Congressman Acklin of Louisiana will shortly fight a duel with Gen Rosser.

The sensational letter of Wilkes Booth to Lincoln, promises to be merely a sensational report.

Last week a very destructive rain storm visited southwestern Kansas and destroyed much property.

A NEW PHASE OF COMMUNISM.

The New York Time's Cincinnati correspondent says:

The farmers in all parts of Ohio are receiving almost daily notices signed "The Workingmen's Bread or Blood Committee," and warning them against buying laboring-saving machinery and especially self-binding reapers. Threats are made that every such reaper will be destroyed and the stacks of grain burned if an attempt is made to use them. No cases of violence hower, have yet been repeated.

It would thus appear that the heaven of social labor disorder is in operation in this country, that a few years hence news similar to the agrarian disturbances of ancient Rome will yet require forcible suppression in the United States. Already have we had the railroad riots of last year, the Kearney sparks in San Francisco, and now comes a distinctive expression of the same ultra spirit in Ohio. Are the times out of joint, that these social disturbances must arise? Has capital made itself tyrannous and official corruption created a stench in the people's nostrils? Has labor little demand and the laborer become worse? In a word, is the present state of affairs warranted by every circumstance. For the country to be purged by an invasion of poverty and ignorance, and this rabble mostly a foreign element would be more disastrous than beneficial. There are times when honest men must come to the front and grasp firmly the reins of government. The United States is a young country and her vast resources are yet but comparatively undeveloped. Her population is not large, and her government the most liberal in the world. The framers of the constitution were too liberal in their provisions for all classes, forgetting that foreigners could not comprehend, appreciate and assume the spirit of our institutions in the time provided under our laws. But subsequent Congresses have not improved matters in some respects have plunged our country into deeper and more far reaching complications. A war would be a resultant detriment, as the class which might suffer without general loss to the country would chiefly remain at home, and our stronger and better and braver men would have the fighting principally to do. One great difficulty lies in the positive dishonesty and selfishness of the people of this country. We speak of a lack of confidence in business circles, and why should this be and what is the result? The spirit of making all we can out of each other, without special regard to the means we employ, must bear fruit, and if the indications of the times are properly interpreted by us, the people will soon gather some of the fruitage.

INDIANS AGAINST INDIANS.

Natchez, who is still recognized as principal leader of the Piutes, notwithstanding his resignation of Chieftainship, has determined to take the field against the hostiles. He has sent messengers to the Piutes and Shoshones, north and south of the railroad, to assemble in council for the purpose of declaring war against the hostiles. If both tribes agree to go to war they can put four or five hundred warriors in the field. Natchez says he has ordered all the Piute tribe out and will get all he can of them to take the war-path.—Silver State.

From the earliest history of our country Indians have been used by the white man to fight each other. But for Donald McKay and his band of Warm Springs Indians the Modocs would not have been as easily dislodged, and that expensive war against the Pitt River and Modoc Indians as soon, or as effectually terminated. After a long peace Indians as well as white men like a war, and it is not so material a point against who or how we fight if we only can shed some blood. The Indian very naturally is more clamorous for bloodshed than are more civilized races. The different tribes have more or less ill will toward each other. Petty jealousies, trivial bickerings, all of which engender a species of hatred which is more or less dormant and yet can be easily aroused, and if skillfully managed may be of an immense advantage at a time like the present. Jackson, Wayne, Standish, Crook, all Indian fighters, use Indians to fight Indians. Not deserters or those who in any way have reason to make common cause with the hostile savage, but those of a different tribe—those who have been misused by the red enemy. Of course this Indian force must be watched and always be less than the white force. They must be kept in subjection, but not placed under what would seem to them severe discipline. Feed them well, enlist their sympathies, not with lying promises, but with actual yet small favors, and they will prove trusty allies and valuable scouts. You then know if an Indian kills another Indian, or both kill each other, that no particular harm will result, as reasoned by war logic. There is no special virtue in a high code of morals in war, and particularly with savages. You cast your pearls before swine in so doing. Get the enemy divided and class fighting against class, then the conflict may rage, and the longer the better. The results will then be permanent, and yourself the least injured. As Brick Pomeroy says, "Strategy, my boy, is everything." We want in this little Indian squabble less prayer-meetings and more strategy and fighting. And a main feature of success lies in fighting Indians with Indians. Fight the devil with his own fire.

BERLIN CONGRESS.

The Berlin congress has more or less determined the Bulgarian question. Many of the conditions are yet to be acquiesced in by Russia, dependent upon the concessions made by the powers in reference to Roumania. The Russians are displeased that the Balkan passes are to be guarded by Turkish forces. The terms thus far made are to a very marked extent due to the firmness of Lord Beaconsfield. Disraeli made a very able speech on Friday, and informed the congress that England's conservative position must have more than passing influence, else he would return to London. Gortschakoff is sick at St. Petersburg with the gout. Austria stands firmly by England, and these two are thus enabled to hold a balance of power in the congress. It is very probable that the session may be a stormy one before its conclusion and that all the questions to be discussed will not be amicably adjusted if they shall even be settled by the Berlin conference.

BORN.

LUKE—In Reno June 23th, 1878, to the wife of W. J. Luke—a son.

Jottings.

— Dr. Bronson, of Virginia city, is in town.
— Several locals have been caowdep out by other matter.
— Miss Lulu Fassett returns to her eastern home to-night.
— The referee case of I. B. Marshall vs. Golden Fleece mining Co. drags its weary length along before Attorney Thos. E. Haydon.
— The way births are coming in, who would say that we do not need additional school facilities? Luke has another blacksmith, as will be seen by reference to the appropriate heading.

SALE OF PAINTINGS.—A select lot of oil chromos, real copies of old master pieces and pictures of real merit are now on exhibition at Marshall's Rooms, and will be sold this evening at auction. Among the collection are the following gems: Moonlight on the Nile and moonlight fishing on the Thames, by De Haas. Morning and evening on lake Tahoe, after Hill. Yellowstone park, headwaters of the Colorado and two views on the Truckee, after Bierstadt. Winter in Holland, after Lickhart. All to be sold, we are informed, positively regardless of cost.

CLOSING EXAMINATION.—Mr. Orvis Ring informs us that on to-morrow the closing examination of classes in his room for the term will be held. This examination will commence at 9 A. M. In the forenoon the classes in geometry and arithmetic will be heard. In the afternoon classes in algebra and grammar will be examined. We trust that as many of the parents and friends of education as can will be present at the closing exercises.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Seltier and Mr. Bobo, of Sierra valley, are in the burg. The poison case is as mysterious as ever. Mr. Seltier says he never suffered as much in his life as when under the effects of the poison. It appeared to him he was being both squeezed to death and torn to pieces. He yet feels some of the effects of the strychnine.

RACE MATTERS.

Pool Selling—Horses and Trainers.

Mr. Norcross informs us that the pool selling to-morrow night will be at White & Block's saloon, on Thursday evening at the Arcade hotel, and on Friday evening at the depot hotel. The track is in the best possible condition. The late rain showed where any slight depressions were, and these have all been filled, and the track put in as good condition as any track on this coast. Among the horses at the track are:

Tom Morgan, owned by Allen Brag.

Edipic, five years old, owned by Dan Dennison. Dan says of this horse that "He is threatened with a heap of speed."

Democrat and Blanche, owned by Matt Canavan.

Jewess, b. m., owned by W. R. Chamberlain.

Gipsy Maid, pacer.

Cousie Vic, owned by M. C. Lake.

Washoe, a promising young stallion, owned by A. K. Lamb.

Lulu, owned by Jack Mitchell.

Chamberlain's young stallion, William R.

Dougie, a trotting horse.

Black Bess, owned by T. W. Norcross.

Nellie, b. m., owned by Winfrey.

Bones, a runner, owned by J. J. Dixon.

As trainers we met the following gentlemen: Das Dennison, O. F. Brown, Q. Anderson and Tom Bean. There are at the track twenty-five race horses. The races for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will be very fine, as will be seen by reading the full programme, found in another column. That Mr. Norcross's races will be first class may be further noted from the following item in yesterday's Virginia Chronicle:

At the races to come off at Reno on the 27th, 28th and 29th of the present month, the programme is a very attractive one, and the purses are sufficiently large to tempt horse-owners from all over the State to bring in their best and fastest stock. There will be running and trotting races each day, and some of the fastest horses on the coast have been entered.

Another Unfortunate.

According to a notice published in yesterday's Gazette, the joy bells are ringing in two young hearts, and as usual we are mad about it. The reason is sufficiently plain. There was Joe Brogan, of Prosser Creek station, as brave and steadfast a young bachelor as one might wish to see. We have known him long and favorably, his reverence for single blessedness was always pleasant to our ears, and we placed every faith in our friend. But now look at him. "But yesterday and Caesar might have ruled the world," "Now, none so poor to do him reverence." He came to Reno with a blush upon his honest face, did Joseph, and we instantly suspected his motives. He rejected our advances by saying he was going to Steamboat. He went to that famous resort, but an estimable and beautiful young lady who called herself Mrs. Brogan accompanied him, and hence our rage. However, it is what one may expect of this world. The bachelor brigade has lost a brave one, and the Benedicts have gained. One by one the roses fade, and the valiant bachelor falls by the wayside. Close up, fellows; let's still present an undaunted front to the enemy, else there will soon be not even a corporal's guard remaining. We will bear no malice, however, but wish the young couple every joy which their honest hearts deserve. We acknowledge receipt of generous samples.

Reward.

Mr. Claude Seitzer, who was poisoned on the 16th in Sierra Valley, offers $200 reward for the apprehension and conviction of the party who poisoned him. An additional reward will be given for the recovery of the whole or a part of the money which was stolen from him on the 6th of the month.

PIONEER'S PICNIC.—We call our readers' especial attention to the Pioneers' advertisement, not that we have their advertisement, but that we feel, independently of this fact, an interest in the success of their picnic. For full particulars glance over their column and make your calculations to attend.

The Reno Drug Store, (late Heole,) is constantly receiving consignments of oils, paints, varnishes, brushes, etc., which are offered at moderate prices. Wm. Pinniger, druggist, etc.
